Our Idea of Happiness is Attending U High and...

BOOSTING PIONEER SPIRIT are Rachel Laubaugh, Jane Meyer, Mary Nelson, Ann Lyman, Emily Romersberger, and Nan Wade.

The cover of our book and the figure above represent the appropriate symbol for our year-book - a clarion. This high-pitched instrument in the trumpet family is noted for a clear, loud sound. As the clarion suggests, we have tried to record clearly and loudly the story of 1966-67 at University High School.

During our four years at University High School, the seniors have found happiness in many forms. For this reason the staff is portraying some of these aspects of happiness as the theme for the 1967 Clarion.

BAND AND PRAIRE BELLE SALLY SWARM keep spirit alive at Homecoming.

KINGS COURT WAS Norm Nierstheimer, Rolf Anderson, Steve Graves, Gerry Schroeder, and Roger Hage.

Homecoming 1966 was a weekend that will never be forgotten by alumni and students of University High School.

Activities began "happily" on Friday, October 21, with the theme of this years homecoming, "Happiness is Homecoming." Lead by high stepping Prairie Belles, U High's first pom-pom squad, and U High's band, the parade began at two o'clock Friday Afternoon. This year's floats proved that marvels could be formed with chicken wire and napkins. First place in float competition went to three junior homerooms for their creation, "Happiness is Coming Home with a Victory", and second place was, "We'll Sew 'em Under-Liter-ally" created by three senior homerooms. Also in the parade was Queen Susan Hodges and her court, Collette Armstrong, Vivian Collie, Susan Hobbs, Rachel Laubaugh, and Emily Romersberger. This year even King Cal Hubbard and his court of Rolf Anderson, Steve Graves, Roger Hage, Norm Nierstheimer, and Gerry Schroeder were in the parade.

At eight o'clock Friday evening University High played its homecoming game against Pontiac. Halftime activities included the queen's crowning and a performance by the Prairie Belles. With the scoreboard reading U. High 20 and Pontiac 12, high spirited U. High fans left Hancock Stadium.

Saturday, October 22, the dance featuring Tommy Woods and the Tunesmen, began at eight o'clock in the ballroom of the University Union.

Ruth Stroud Honored at Dedication

AFTER THE CEREMONIES, Dr. Bone congratulates Miss Stroud.

U HIGH CHORUS entertains at the auditorium dedication.

"For two million dollars, build a building that will house between 700 and 800 students and their teachers." This was the directive given the building committee. This was University High School. Now it is more, not just a building, it is an institution of learning.

The newly added auditorium was dedicated to Miss Ruth Stroud, Sunday, November 6, 1966. Dr. Robert G. Bone, president of Illinois State University, accepted the building and also recognized Miss Stroud. There was an open house and reception afterward in her honor.

Miss Stroud retired in August of 1965 after thirty-five years of service to U High. Students have always appreciated her teaching as an inspiration to work toward higher goals in education.

It is particularly fitting that a person, such as Miss Stroud, be honored by the dedication.

In "Carousel"

A cast of 199 participated in CAROUSEL, U High's first musical in three years. The production was directed by Mr. Connolly. Mr. Miller conducted the orchestra and chorus.

CAROUSEL is the story of a troubled, quick tempered barker named Billy Bigelow, played by Tom Kendall, and his sweetheart Julie Jordan, Lesley Manring. Billy kills himself but later returns for a day to help his daughter Louise. She was played by show choreographer, Sally Swarm.

Comedy was added by Carrie Pepperidge, Sophomore Ellen Crawford, and her "intended", Enoch Snow, Phil Shaw.

Two contrasting characters were kind, motherly Aunt Nettie, Angie Shaw, and ex-convict Jigger Craigin, Pat Brymer.

CAROUSEL featured a large chorus that belted out such numbers as "June is Bustin' Out All Over." Another attraction was 12 girl dancers and a group of rollicking sailors who also danced.

At the close of the musical, the entire cast sang "When You Walk Through a Storm Hold your Head up High" and many did, as Mr. C. said, "feel the need to weep a bit, for the world is full of Billy Bigelows."

ARTISTS CAROL MACY and Emily Romersberger work on risqué scenery for CAROUSEL.

U High Hails "Dinny and the Witches"

Mr. Connolly, assisted by two student teachers, presented the three one-act plays to give more students the experience and opportunity to act. THE SOUND OF NIGHT, a Japanese play, which starred Michi Kuno, our foreign exchange student, depicted several aspects of war. NOAH was a presentation about Biblical times, while the LADY KILLERS was an American farce of stereo-typed characters.

DINNY AND THE WITCHES is one of director Connolly's favorite plays. It is the story of mankind and his faults in trying to obtain the unreachable perfection. Dinny was portrayed by D. Lincoln King; Amy by Sally Swarm; and the witches, Luella, Zenobia, and Ulga by Cheryl Frink, Angela Shaw, and Martha Goetsch.

"Once Upon A Winters Dream" was the theme for this year's Winter Formal, put on by the sophomore class in the Union ballroom.

Unusual decorations, including a snowy sleigh drawn by a white horse, helped set the wintry, romantic mood. Couples and chaperones danced to the music of the "Naturals."

Souvenir pictures were taken by Camera Craft.

NEWLY ELECTED STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: Lesley Manring, Todd Miller, Nancy Steele, and Leland Thomas discuss plans for next year.

Cartoon characters dominated the Student Council election campaigns. "Snoopy," "Nancy," "Dr. Suess" characters and road runners conquered the walls and stage of U High. The skits and posters were lighthearted, but the nine candidates' speeches revealed deep ideas, leadership and sincere ambition for University High School. This years' candidates for president were Todd Miller and Jack Neal; vice president, Grace Eckert, Leland Thomas and Larry Walraven. Chris Carroll and Nancy Steele ran for secretary while Leslie Manring and Mary Jo Welcome were candidates for the office of treasurer. During the week, students carefully considered each candidate's qualifications through the articles by the candidates in the CLARION-ETTE.

With high ambitions for the coming year, Miller, Thomas, Steele, and Manring have already begun planning. Student exchange, AFS, school spirit and working relations within the council are only a few of the problems facing them. With dedication, hard work and long hours, these officers will lead the Student Council of University High during the year 1967-68.

"Walk Together . . .

Dear U High,

This year has been so short, kind of like a dream. It has passed so quickly that I almost feel I arrived only a few months ago. How many new things I have experienced! How many new people I have met! I will never forget the exciting ball games, cheers, or the fun we had in CAROUSEL together.

I now know that people of the world can understand each other, for understanding means neither doing the same things nor thinking the same things. We can know others as we are. I hope you will always realize why an organization such as A.F. S. is necessary today. A country cannot exist alone just as a person cannot live all by himself.

Now my special year is over. I'll go back to Japan, and I may not see you again. But I'll always remember friendly people, Normal, U High, and you. Thank you.

Talk Together . . .

Dear U High,

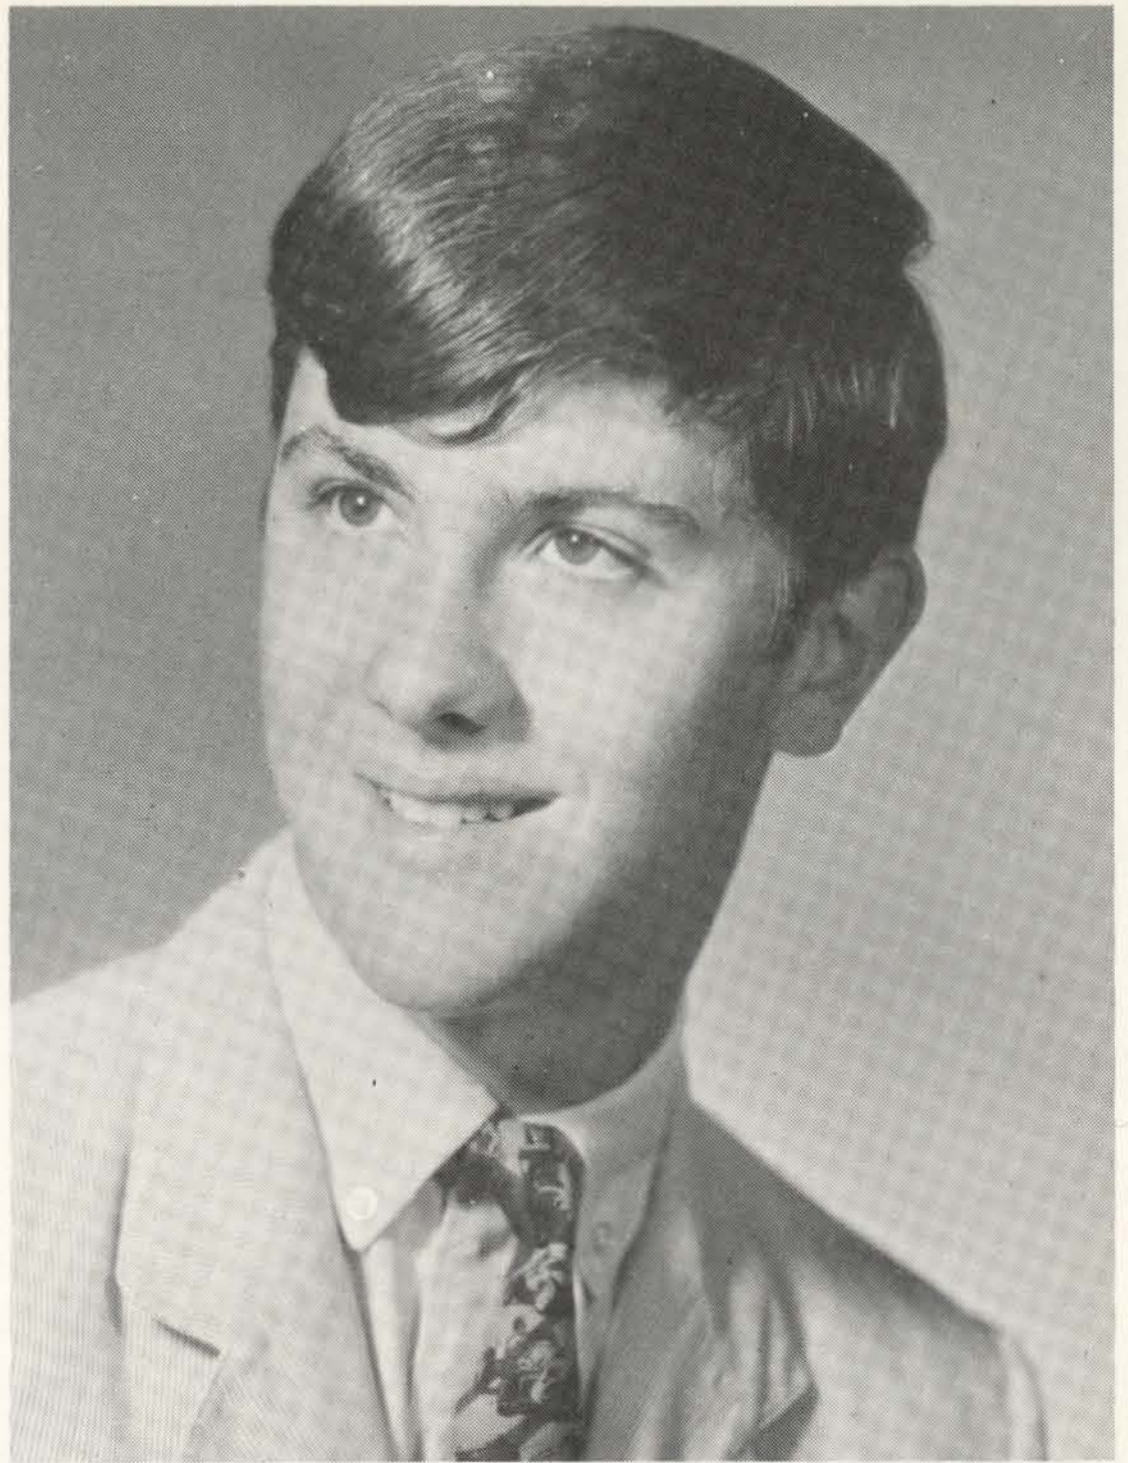

I wish to take this opportunity to thank this school for the wonderful experience I had last summer. I had the opportunity to live in Sorocaba, Sao Paulo, Brazil, with a family of six.

I took two trips during my stay. My family took me to Brasilia, the beautiful capitol city. The other trip was to Belo Horizonte with thirty-five other AFS students from my area. There I had the opportunity to see Vany, our AFS student in 1963 and 1964.

AFS is a wonderful organization and I certainly hope that U High can send some other students abroad in the future. I just as sincerely hope that we will maintain the fine tradition of bringing students such as Vany, Turid, Haroon, and Michi to our school.

Thank you again for all of these experiences!

Amidst the huge trees, captain's ship, and lagoons of "Never, Never Land," this year's upperclassmen dined and danced at the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. During the Banquet, Dean Bond spoke, and the class prophecy was read. Bill Oetzel's band furnished the lively music for the prom. At ten-thirty Michi Kuno and Norm Nierstheimer were crowned queen and king as their court and others looked on. Pictures by Nitzel Studio were taken on stepping stones in a lagoon, surrounded by trees and covered with Spanish moss. Nitzel's also raffled off a stuffed kangaroo - a souvenir of the dance. "After-prom" was at the Four Seasons Club. Ice skating, swimming, old time movies, buffet dinner, and dancing to the Shattertones ended the evening in "Never, Never Land."

A new tradition began as the Baccalaureate Vespers Service was held in the Ruth Stroud Auditorium on June 2. The Rev. William F. The U High Chorus provided two musical selections for the occasion, and the audience joined in singing two traditional American songs. ## Science Probes

Science, a continually changing field of study, enjoys a wide and varied curriculum at U High. General science, taught by Mr. Warren, Mr. Adams, and Mr. Macesich, gives an overall view of the sciences. Often a particular interest shows up in the young student and future courses are determined by this interest. Then comes biology, chemistry and physics. Harold A. Moore and John R. Carlock, biology teachers, always find new ways to spend their time. Currently writing a book and teaching both elementary and experimental biology courses, Mr. Moore and Mr. Carlock are also finding new ways to make their office more "liveable."

Chemistry teachers, McKinty, Macesich, and Legg find new ways to interest their students in the molecular formations of life. Advanced chemistry is offered to the student who finds chemistry a particularly interesting field. Physics and advanced physics are both taught by Dr. DeVerne Dalluge. Extensive laboratories for all of these sciences are available in order to improve the type of education a student receives.

Several new teachers added to some of the changes in the English department this year. The new teachers: Mrs. Stachnik, English I; Mr. Bishop, publications, journalism, and pre-college grammar; and Mr. Baumgardner, English II all have proven to be a success among the students.

This year, the English department sponsored a peace essay contest given by the McLean County Lions Club. Lesley Manring, a student in junior English, rated highest among the groups of junior high, high school, and college students.

In the creative line, other University High School students have had their selections printed this year. Eric Smith, freshman, had a poem printed in the Illinois English Bulletin. Many senior English students had their poems printed in a National Anthology of Poetry.

Preparing dinners, luncheons, and a Christmas tea are a few of the activities which kept the Home Economics Department busy this past year. Home Ec. III visited the Merchandise Mart and Marina Towers in Chicago and saw homes under construction. Meal planning and economy within the home were subjects studied by the older girls. Home Ec. II visited the Lacon Woolen Mill in Lacon, Illinois. Toward the end of the year, they gave a luncheon for their guests. A co-ed class, Family Living, studied the family as a unit and living comfortably within a budget. A Christmas tea for the teachers was the main attraction for the Home Ec. I class. On May 24th, all three classes participated in a fashion show given in the Ruth Stroud Auditorium.

The Home Ec. Department lost Mrs. Margaret Bradford after sixteen years of teaching at U High. Respected for her devotion to helping high school girls learn good techniques within the home, she was honored at a faculty tea in the spring.

Changes were again a major part of the Foreign Language Department. Overhead earphones were used frequently in the French classes. Miss Emswiler and Mr. Thompson's students frequently gave talks, read novels, and recited French poetry. Mr. Smith, a new French teacher, used skits in his French I classes with enthusiastic reactions from his students. The Spanish classes, under Mr. Vilaro, used earphones, learned songs, and saw cultural films of the Spanish Americas. Miss Chiles and Mr. Schmidt, Latin teachers, focused on Latin literature, history, and culture to broaden the students' understanding of Latin. A German dinner and movie in Chicago gave German students more understanding of another nationality. Classroom study was under the direction of Mr. Fuehrer. The Russian program at U High expands yearly with more interest shown by students. Mr. McComas employed the same techniques as other language teachers.

Mr. Quensel's Drivers Education classes concentrated on developing classroom techniques in perception. Inexperience, he believes, is the fault of most teenage accidents. With more experience in judgment and perception, better drivers should result. Mr. Quensel spent much time in developing and researching bills for the legislature.

Several new methods as well as older, accepted methods were used in the Business Department during 1966-67. The four teachers organizing these activities were Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. Grever, Mrs. Kurth, and Mr. Knofla. One innovation was a three week experimental program which was a cooperative effort between the printing class and the office practice class. The purpose was to establish an inter-departmental approach to the vocational needs of the pupils. The Business Department conducted a state-wide survey seeking the advice of area business teachers in regard to an executive secretarial program. Compiled information on the new idea was circulated throughout the state. A project in practice for a third year was an independent study program. The specific area studied was not important; instead the area of interest to the student was emphasized.

U High math students had many high scorers in the annual national math contest with junior, Kent Taulbee, placing first at U High. Returning after a year's leave at the University of Iowa, Mr. Brown experimented in two of his classes. This past year, U High welcomed a new math teacher, Mr. Schigalis, from Champaign. Mr. Boeckmann, teaching geometry, and Mr. McKinty, teaching chemistry, tried a new technique with alteration every nine weeks of the two classes. To continue their successful teaching methods, the math teachers and their student teachers had regular after school meetings to discuss new methods of teaching and making learning easier.

The purpose of the Social Science Department is to promote an awareness and understanding of the problems and assets contained within the cultures of yesterday, today, and tomorrow. Each teacher has his particular method of fulfilling this purpose.

One of Miss Alexander's history classes wrote a term paper entitled, "That Was the Week that Was" about the week in which each student was born. Mr. Crawford's government class portrayed important political figures such as Lady Bird and L.B.J., the twelve Cabinet mem-

Dr. Eikenberry accompanied her classes to such places as Biddle's Advertising and McKnight and McKnight Publishing Co. ## Experiments Fill the Speech Dept.

The Speech Department has planned several new experiments for next year. Mr. Beck has initiated a new course in radio and television but is hampered by the lack of proper equipment. With the help of three others, he spent many hours this year writing a high school dramatics textbook, tentatively set for publication in the fall of 1967. Mr. Fischer instructed two of his classes in parliamentary procedure. They studied the phases of passing a bill through Congress. In addition to his already busy schedule, Mr. Connolly, drama coach, plans to teach the new courses of Dramatics II and Stagecraft Technology next year.

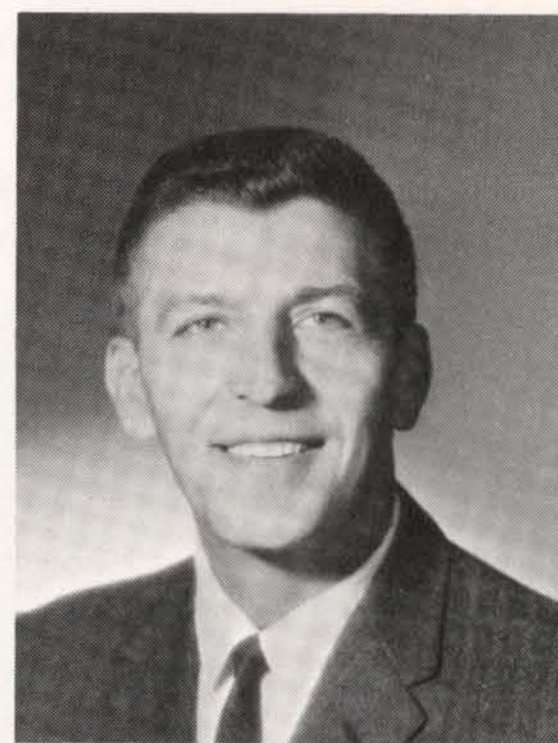

The physical education program for freshman and sophomore boys emphasized physical conditioning and fundamental skills in team games. Fundamental skills in football, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, and track and field are taught. The junior and senior boys' classes emphasized physical conditioning and skills in individual sports such as golf, tennis, bowling, and badminton. Emphasized were activities that students may play all their lives. A new program in P.E. was started for the physically handicapped boys and girls. Individual differences were covered with various activities. Fitness and fun were emphasized with hope that these students learn to enjoy physical activities that they can continue after graduation.

GRACEFUL GIRLS PRACTICE modern dance movements to music.

TOUCHE! THE STUDENT TEACHER triumphs as usual?

New activities were added this past year for more varied Girls' P.E. An interest in bowling was developed after the fundamentals were taught in some classes. Juniors and seniors learned the basics of medical self-help in a one week course. Included in this course was artificial respiration, care of excessive bleeding and broken appenditures. This could prove very useful to future homemakers. Coordination and timing were included in several activities. Modern dancing, ball gymnastics (or dancing with a ball) and body mechanics were given to freshman through senior girls.

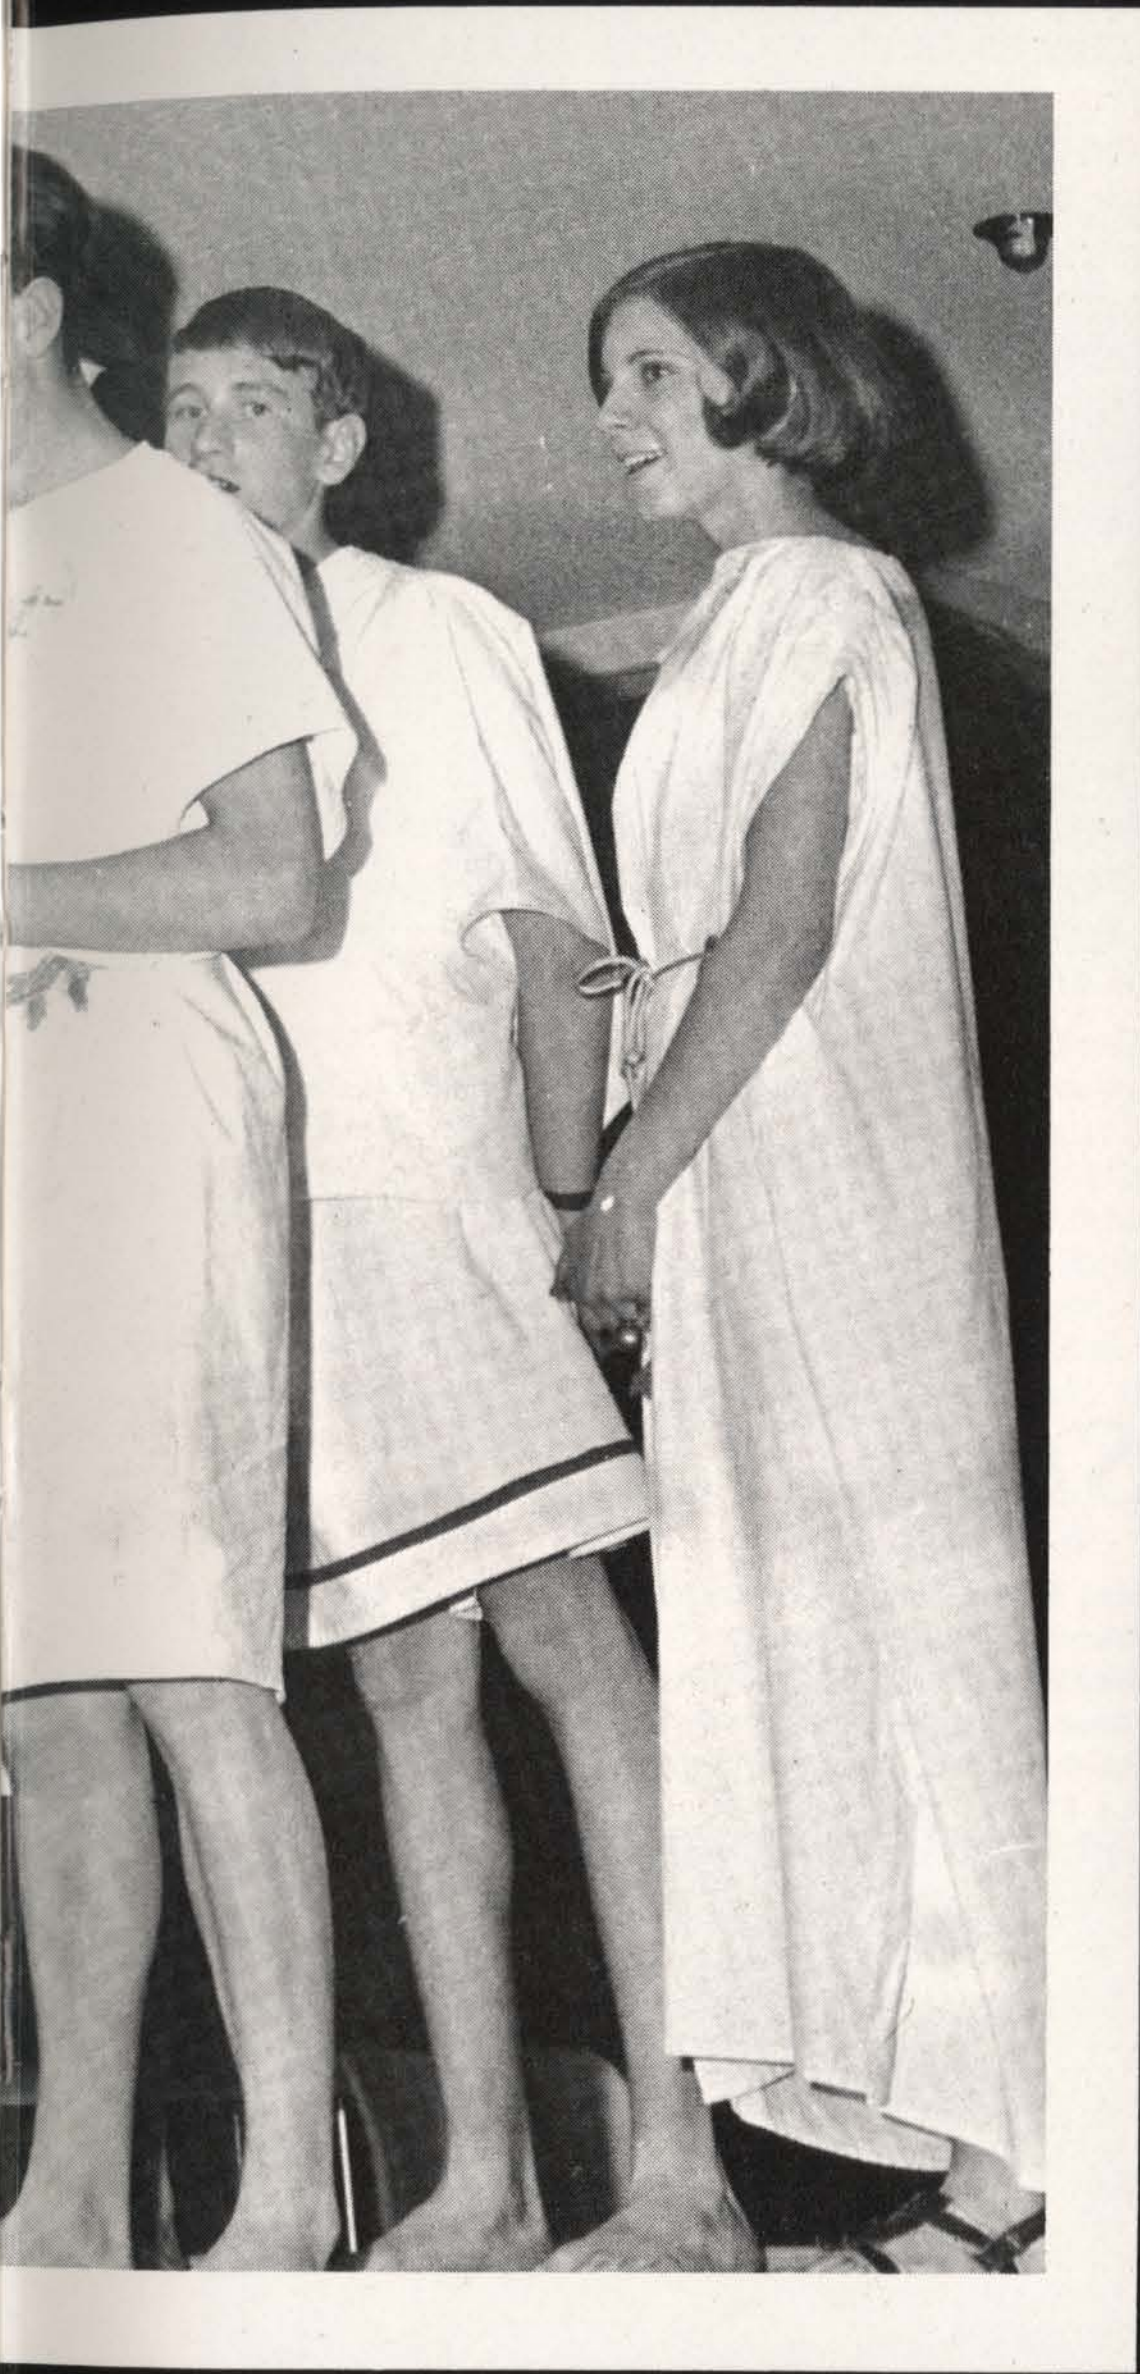

In the spring, the Girls' P.E. department sponsored an all-school Gym Jam. This was a new experience for U High students, but many people found enjoyment from the various activities. It was a very enthusiastic gathering with participants in volleyball, basketball, dancing, badminton, bowling, and table tennis.

A REGULAR WEEKLY Student Council meeting proceeds smoothly.

Study hall and cafeteria rules were problems facing the Student Council during the first semester. Honor study halls were put into practice in two test study halls. Second semester all hours changed to the style of having a lounge area for talking and dual studying, the auditorium for silent, individual study, and the library for research work. A semester exam schedule was decided upon during first semester. It was a great improvement over previous methods; therefore it was accepted as the second semester plan also. Second semester emphasized the revising of the U High constitution. After several changes, the constitution was more suited to the new school. Homecoming, the AFS and United Fund Drives, and the Student Exchange program were other topics of discussion throughout the year. Overall, the 1966-67 Student Council adopted several changes which made the year run quite smoothly.

The one ambition of the CLARION staff this past year was to put the yearbook out before school starts in the fall. Through much hard work and many hours of toil, each deadline was met, and the student body received their copy of the 1967 yearbook in August. Editing the book this past year was Linda Pilch. The new advisor this year was Mr. John Bishop. Debbie Bates handled all the money matters while Nancy Taylor worked with the copy. Pictures were Sue Hobbs' task while the design of the pages was left up to Carol Macy's artistic talent. Recording the sports was Dan Satorius' contribution to the CLARION.

P. S. If it is August and you have this yearbook in your hand, then you know we made it!

CLARIONETTE Enlarges Size;

Paula Esworthy, editor.

Ingenuity went into our 1966-1967 newspaper, the CLARIONETTE. Both the outer appearance and the contents were rejuvenated to form an overall better newspaper. Publication was more frequent this year, helping to improve the communications at U High.

Editor Paula Esworthy's staff had to get the paper completely laid-out, the type composed, and the final paste up completed before the paper was sent to the printer.

The most outstanding change in the contents of the paper was the addition of a picture feature page. This page consisted entirely of pictures of U High life based on one major feature. Many of the stories were contributed by Mr. Bishop's journalism class.

For the first time in several years, the CLARIONETTE was published at regular three-week intervals. In order to accomplish this, the staff sold pictures to the freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Over three hundred and fifty dollars were earned in this way.

Maintaining school spirit is the main objective of Pep Club. Their program for the year included entertaining the assemblies with skits and special speakers and decorating the halls with proclamations of the U High's strength. Senior girls dressed in 'Thing' costumes danced 'divinely' at one assembly. Injured athlete, Cal Hubbard, gave a pep talk before the Trinity Football game. The coaches also helped the Pep Club by reminding the student body of U High's ability to be the best.

The initiation of new lettermen was one activity that the U Club fully enjoyed. For one week, initiates were required to carry purses filled with 'goodies' for the U Club members. The pledges were, of course, harrassed and embarrassed by many of the old members. Incoming freshman boys were entertained at a coke party sponsored by U Club. This was to show the young Pioneers the fun and honor of being in U Club.

Continuing a tradition of enthusiasm in sports, U High adopted a new group of pom-pom girls to add to the pep and excitement. The Prairie Belles, led by captain Sally Swarm, marched at football games and helped at pep assemblies. The eleven girlsquad shows promise of helping the student body's school spirit. Leading the band in their public appearances and displaying her ability at baton twirling was drum majorette, Bonnie Johnson.

Bonnie Johnson, Majorette

PRAIRIE BELLES, CHEERLEADERS, and the majorette join forces for the school song.

The purpose of the U High cheerleaders is to direct the enthusiasm of the crowd and to help create good sportsmanship among the students and the faculty. This year's cheerleading squads worked hard to obtain these goals.

Encouraging the freshman basketball team were Julie Anderson, Jodie Davis, and Jill Sel-lards. In spite of the low attendance at these games, the freshman girls managed to raise en-thusiasm.

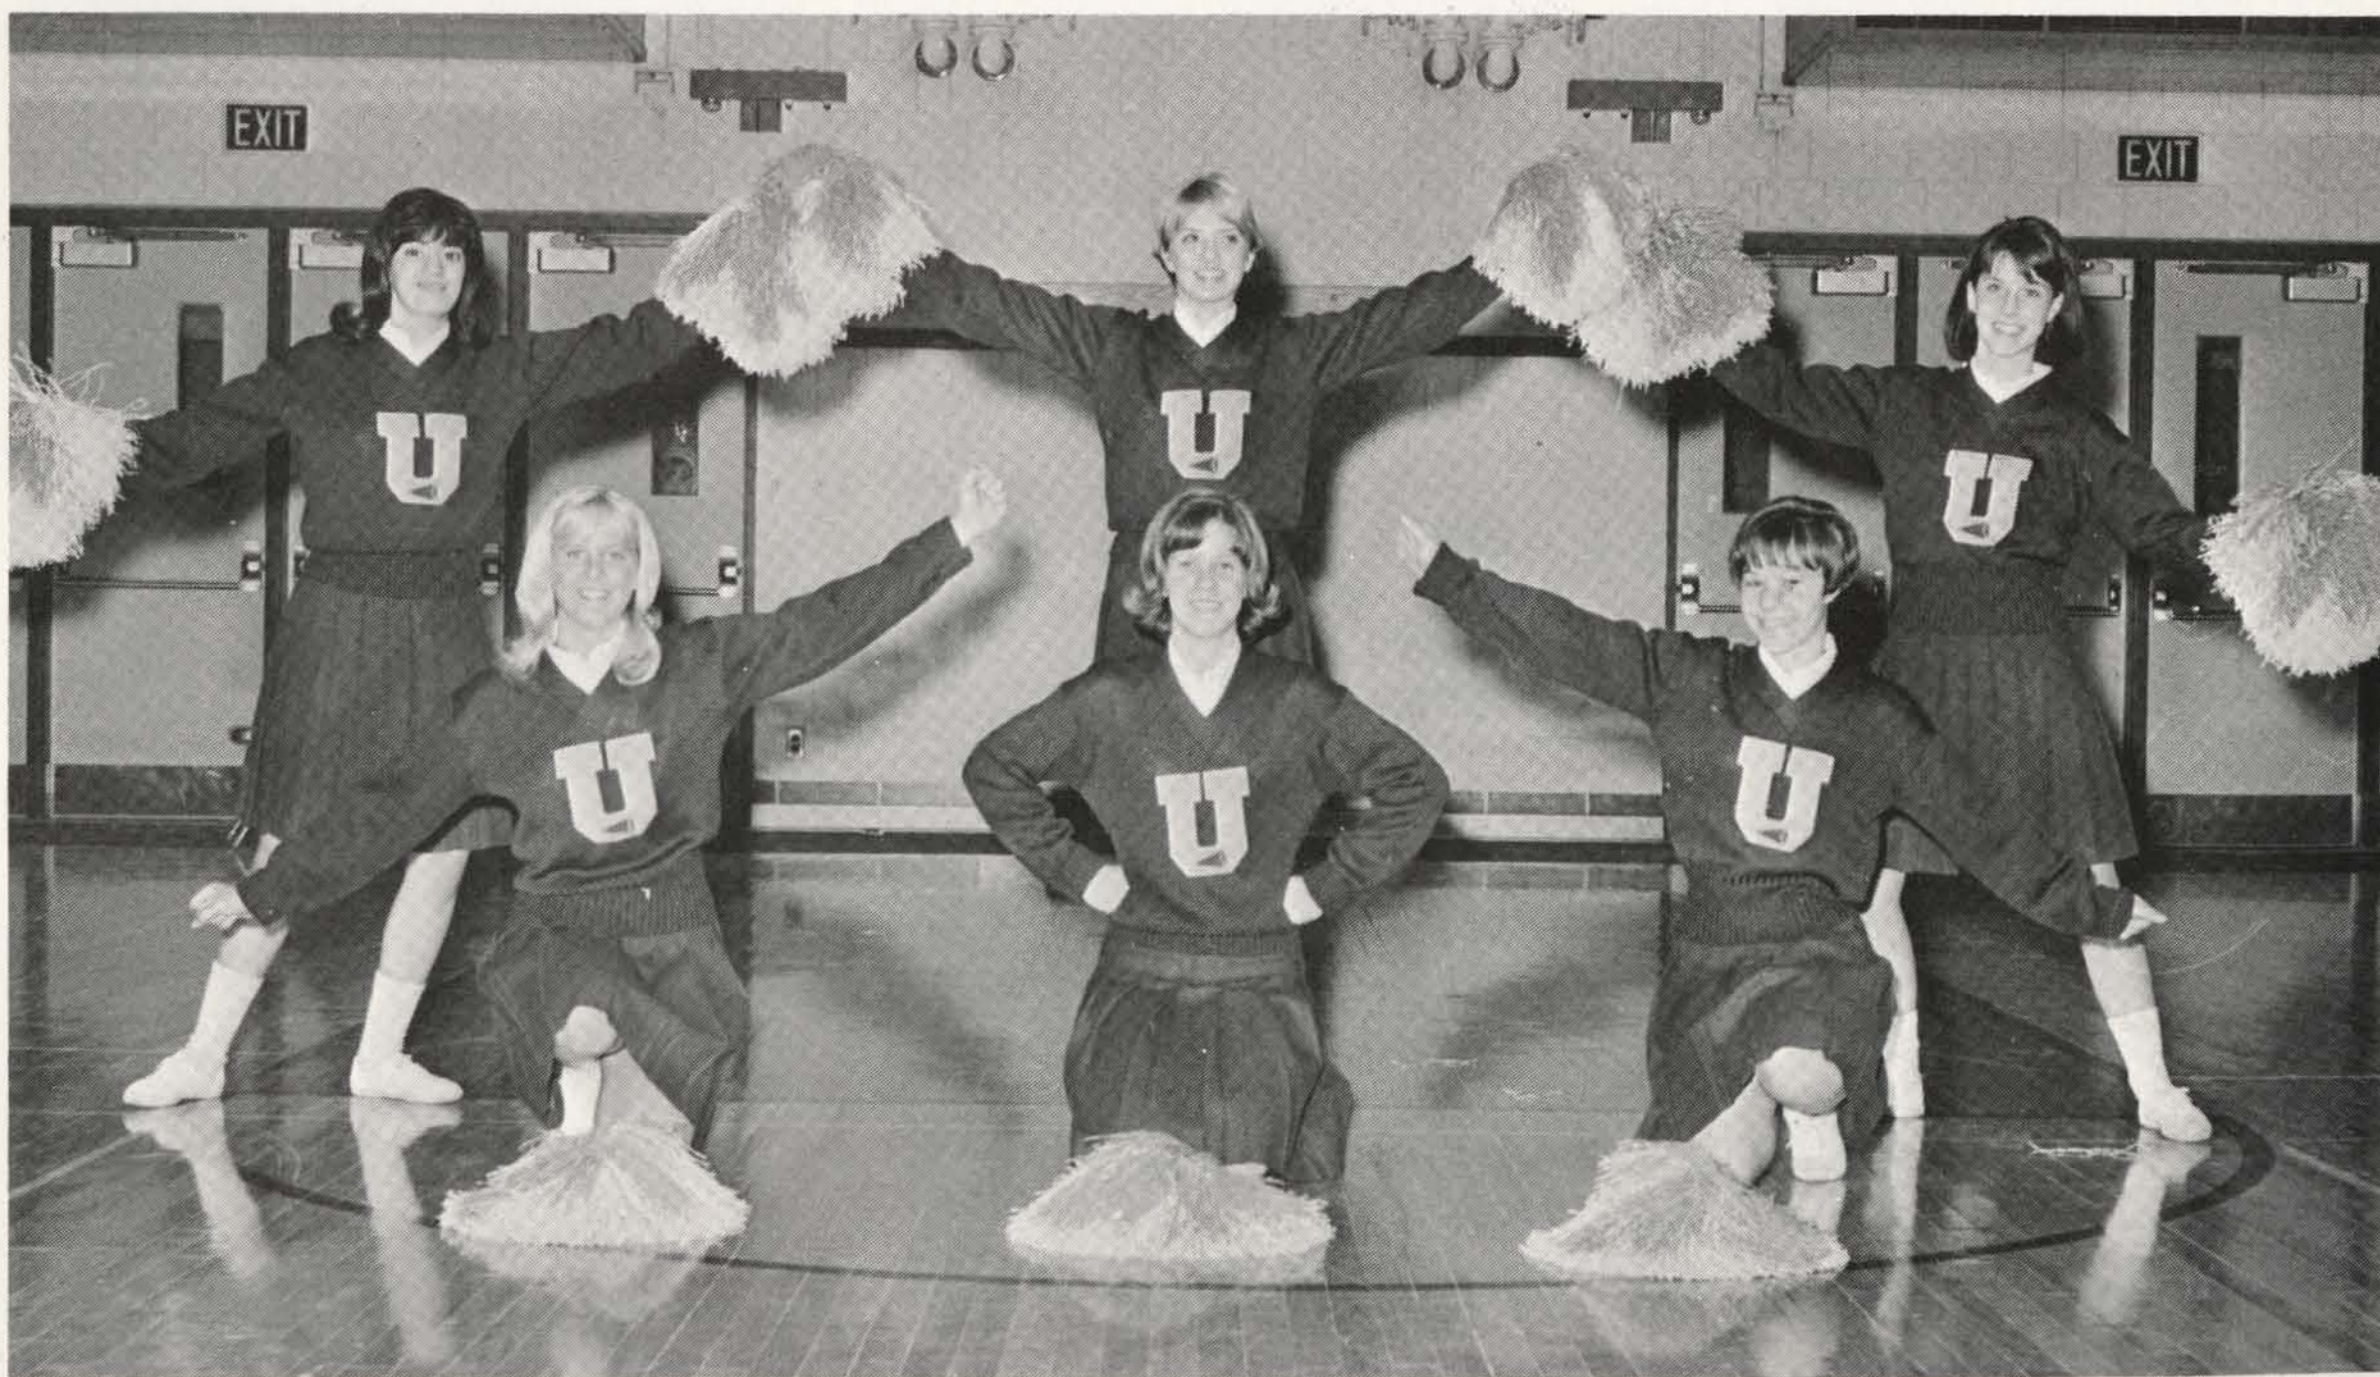

The four peppy frosh-soph cheerleaders pulled the team through many close games. Marsha Blager, Jane Legg, Karen Mercier, and Margaret Romersberger led the cheers for the frosh-sophs.

In charge of the varsity cheers were Rachel Laubaugh, captain, Ann Lyman, Mary Nelson, Emily Romersberger, Nan Wade, and Jane Meyer, alternate. These girls led the audience through both victories and defeats without letting up on the spirit.

Orchestra Tuned for Four Concerts

THE ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS PRACTICED many evenings in order to present the fall musical, CAROUSEL.

Being especially active this year, the band members have been busy preparing for games, concerts, and music contests. In the fall the band usually marches at the home football games, but due to the lack of a football practice field, the Prairie Belles did most of the marching for the 1966 season. The band gave two Christmas concerts: one for I.S.S.C.S. Elementary School, and the other for U High students, parents, and friends.

The Pep Band was honored to perform at the Illinois Supersectional Basketball Tournament at Horton Field House, and in the spring many band members qualified for the finals in state competition.

The orchestra was also very active during the year. Most of the orchestra members received firsts at the State Music Contests. The orchestra also played for CAROUSEL, the fall play, and gave four concerts during the year.

Concerts Acclaimed Successes

With four different chorus classes this year, the chorus has made a great improvement.

To start their list of programs, they sang at the dedication of the new Ruth Stroud Auditorium.

The chorus was very proud when the dramatics club asked Mr. Miller for their support in the production of the fall play--CAROUSEL. Many tedious hours of practicing and memorizing proved to be worthwhile after the first production was given.

Next on their agenda was the performance of the annual Christmas concert. Such songs as "Carol of the Bells", "Carol of the Drums", "We Wish You the Merriest", and "Merry Christmas the World Around" were sung, but their ending piece, "And the Glory of the Lord", from the MESSIAH, seemed to be the favorite of both the audience and the chorus.

The spring concert, ended their list of programs.

ROW 3: Angie Shaw, Vivian Collie, Chris Smith, Steve Graves, Philip Shaw, Kent Taulbee, Linda Stephenson, Jeff Hulet, Nana Brooks.

It was an active year for the speech team. U High placed first in the Bloomington Invitational, first in the Corn Belt, first in the District, and first in the Sectional, quite an accomplishment for any speech team! U High was able to send five contestants to the Tournament of Champions--Angie Shaw, Mike Ferguson, Shelly Brian, Sara Romersburger and Teri Herndon. Four Pioneers went to state--Mike Ferguson, Vivian Collie, Carol Macy and Linc King, who placed fourth in oratorical declamation.

Debaters had an equally exciting year. The sub-varsity team placed second in the Corn Belt where Susan Winterroth was chosen best debater. The varsity team consisting of Gail Holdridge, Nancy Taylor, Doug Poe, and Jim Pohlmann placed first in the sectional where Jim was chosen best debater. This first place qualified the team for the state finals.

NEW INITIATES RECEIVE pledge pins from Honor Society regulars.

Honor Society

Honor Society blends high ideals in scholastic achievement and citizenship with pleasure. Members of this society are chosen on the basis of grades and extra curricular activities.

The initiation of the pledges is also a mixture of seriousness and fun. Pledge week is amusing for the members while the formal initiation consists of the reading of original essays on serious topics.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS ARE LED to the stage.

Seniors initiated in the fall were Paula Es-worthy, Ted Fagerburg, Martie Goetsch, Susan
Hodges, Gail Holdridge, Linc King, Ann Lyman, Carol Macy, Janet Miller, Gerry Schroeder, Sally Swarm, Nancy Taylor and Bobbie Thompson.

In the Spring these juniors were initiated:
Bruce Brown, Chris Carroll, Debbie Lair, Lesley Manring, Debbie McClanahan, Jack Neal,
Kent Taulbee, and Leland Thomas.

The distinguishing factor of audio-visual is that the members have no formal meetings. Each hour of the day, some boys spend their study halls in the audio-visual room. These boys are in charge of the maintenance, repair, delivery, and operation of all of the audio-visual equipment at U High.

Films on guns and hunting were the main interest of the Rifle Club this year. At their banquet, Robert Fowler from the Normal Police Department spoke to the members.

DO, Industrial Arts, FBLA and . . .

The Diversified Occupation students attend classes at UHigh and films and lectures at N.C. H.S., obtaining training for their future jobs. Virginia Davis, Hazel Stotler, Kathy Voorhies, Tony Sleever and Ed Doage plan to enter occupations which vary from dental assistants and secretaries to butchers and dieticians. Since they do not plan to enter college, U High's D.O. program is a valuable asset to their future.

An eventful year was in store for the Industrial Arts Club. Beginning the year with a Christmas party, the members made copper name plates for each teacher. As another project, the Industrial Arts Club printed the annual student directories. In order to enlarge their treasury, a clean-up program was organized at the end of the year in which cars were cleaned, washed and waxed.

F.B.L.A. actively met twice a month to aid in the development of competent business leaders. In the Area Conference held at U High, John Lakadat was elected public speaker. Using George Washington as a theme, the club sponsored a party for the girls from the Lucy Orme Morgan Home.

The F.H.A. began the year with a Little Sister Tea for the new freshman girls. They sold cookbooks to raise funds to help a Korean Orphanage enjoy Christmas. Other projects sponsored were a Father-Daughter Banquet, a Can-Can Dance, a UNICEF drive, and selling mums for homecoming.

The Student-Faculty Forum, consisting of interested teachers and students, was formed to incorporate opinions of adults and students. Under the leadership of sponsors, Mr. Parmantie and Mr. Warren, the Forum discussed such matters as school spirit, dress code, and teacher evaluation. Open discussion of any subject provided insight and pros and cons on many controversial topics.

Great authors' ideas were discussed this year in Great Books, with Mr. Parmantie as sponsor. Great Books, finishing its second year at U High, is looking forward to more members and more books to be discussed next year. Members read various books individually and then get together as a group to discuss what they have read. Interested students buy a series of paperback books written by outstanding authors. Some of the books read during the year were: ALICE IN WONDERLAND, PYGMALION, and ANTIGONE.

Classical Music Club Formed

A new club initiated in 1966-67 was the Classical Music Club. The club provided opportunities for interested students to learn about composers and eras in classical music. An appreciation for classical music from the Renaissance period to contemporary music was added. Jeanne Kendall, Chuck Richmond, and Jeff Hulet were general officers for the year, and Mr. Baumgardner acted as sponsor. Next year the club hopes to travel to Peoria or Chicago to hear a symphony.

Quill and Scroll is a national, honorary society for superior work in journalism. Local requirements limit members to seniors with two years of service to journalism publications. According to the national qualifications, the nominee must be in the upper one third of his class, recommended by the supervisor, and approved by the executive Secretary of the Society. Members receive a gold pin, membership card, and one-year subscription to the QUILL AND SCROLL magazine.

Under the direction of the sponsor, Mr. Vilaro and officers, Nancy Bethel, president; Jim Brokaw, vice president; Sally Brooks, treasurer; and Kristin Oliver, secretary, the Spanish Club spent their time on projects pertaining to the culture and language of Spanish peoples. At meetings, the students sampled Spanish dishes and studied cultures and songs. A national test for Spanish students and an area speech contest were highlights of the year.

Members of the German Club experienced language and culture by an annual trip to Chicago, seeing German movies, and dining in a German restaurant. The activities were organized by officers, Jim Hinthorn, president; Tom Thetard, vice president; Tibor Horvath, treasurer; Jon Thetard, secretary; and their sponsor, Mr. Fuehrer.

Headed by officers, Cheryl Frink, president;

Nancy Taylor, vice-president; Linda Erwin, secretary; Cheri de Werff, treasurer; and their sponsor, Miss Emswiler, the French Club opened the year with a picnic. A meeting for introducing the Intercity AFS students and a spring trip to Chicago ended the year's activities.

Officers of the club were: Linda Pilch, president; Nancy Bethel, vice president; and Judy Beeler, secretary-treasurer.

The Powell Science Club shares ideas among its members in an individual exploration in the field of science. Several members gave speeches on many problems such as the construction of Bell Telephone Kits. QUARTERBACK JACK NEAL SCRAMBLES for extra yardage.

The Pioneers started their 1966 season with a 21 to 0 win over Monticello.

The Gridders then lost to Bloomington by 13 to 12, as Jack Neal connected on 17 passes to Roger Hage for 117 yards. Senior end Cal Hubbard tore a ligament in his leg and was lost for the season.

The team crushed Washington 22 to 0 but was beaten 27 to 7 by Clinton.

The squad then demolished the seven game winning of Trinity by downing the Saints 20 to 13. This in Coach Chiodo's opinion, was the team's best game of the season.

The Pioneers looked good as they won the Homecoming game from Pontiac 20-14.

Vince Lott played an outstanding game when U High tromped St. Teresa 20-7. Lott scored all three touchdowns.

The Freshmen football team accomplished an undefeated season by rolling to 177 points and holding the opponents to only 38.

The coaching of the first year Pioneers was done by Phillip Wilson, who was also in his first year at U High. The team was composed of many outstanding players, according to Coach Wilson, with Mike Macesich leading in offense and Bob Scott leading in defense.

The offense scored an average of 25 points per game, while the defense held their opponents at a 5.4 point average.

The outlook for the next three years for these outstanding freshman football players looks very promising.

The 69'ers made a great improvement this year as sophomores over last year's team. With the aid of this year's freshmen, the second year Pioneers compiled a record of two wins, four loses, and one tie.

According to Coach Jim Scott, "It was progression, and the boys improved each time they played."

Defeating the unbeaten Fairbury team, beating Pontiac, and tying with Morton, who was undefeated, were among the highlights of the season. Although they lost the first four games, these young Pioneers "turned the tables" in their final three contests.

TOM THEATARD BATTLES for the rebound.

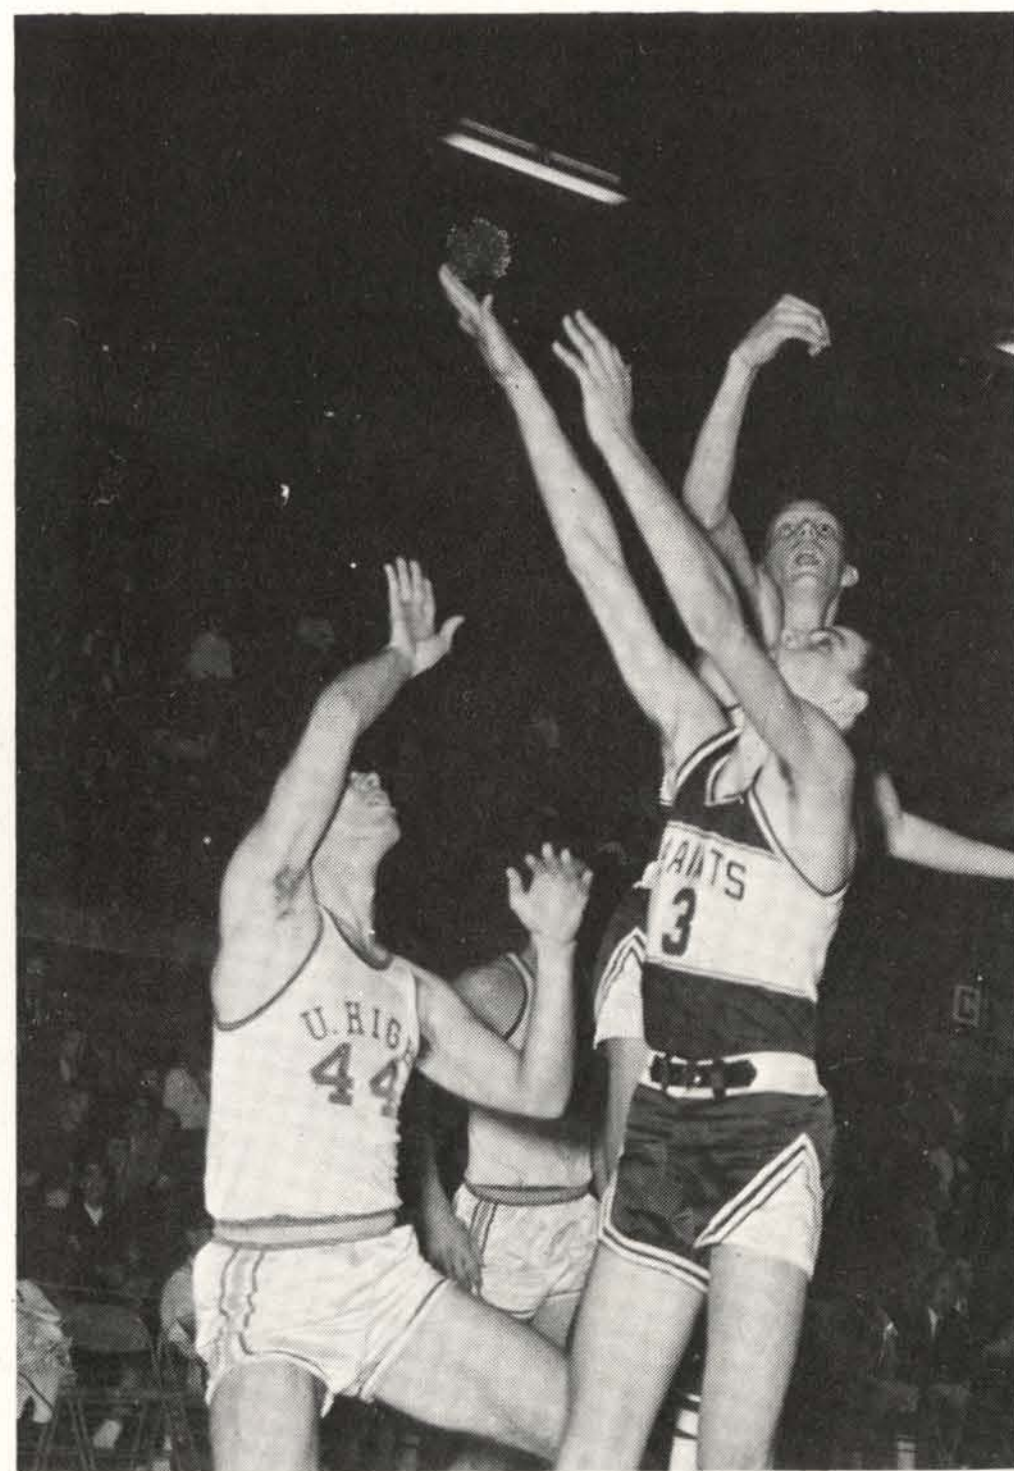

Coach Frank Chiodo's hoopsters came through with a fine effort this year. The team's 14-11 season ended at the Fairbury Regional Tournament as Normal ended our six game winning streak.

The season's highlight came in the game against Washington when Chris Hertel pumped in 25 points, Norm Nierstheimer 19, and Kent Taulbee 18 points to upset the Conference Champs.

The Pontiac Holiday Tournament and the Trinity game, which brought U High a 3-way Intercity tie for first place, were other fine efforts of the season.

Senior Norm Nierstheimer was elected to the Intercity Squad and was voted as captain and most valuable player by his teammates. Taulbee and Norm Nierstheimer were named to the Corn Belt Conference team.

"We had hoped for a better season, but we're still real happy with the progress. We are looking forward to bigger and better things next year." This was the season as summarized by Coach Chiodo.

This year U High hosted the first annual Joseph Cogdal relays.

Many U High track records were broken this past year. Larry Ramlow set an impressive number of records in high jump. He broke the school, Intercity, and Corn Belt records, and placed fourth in district. His highest jump was 6'1". Other records were compiled for the team by Tibor Horvath in the two mile, Kent Taulbee - discus, Doug Warlow - mile, Doug Warlow, Terry Scarbeary, Steve Hannie and Kent Taulbee - one mile relay.

TODD MILLER ADVANCED to the state tennis finals.

In the second year at U High the tennis team completed a 4-8 season but accumulated several titles.

The University High School netters, losing by only one point, finished second to Pekin at the Peoria Richwoods District. Todd Miller placed second in this District, and this enabled him to advance to State competition.

U High had a number of fine individual performers. Junior Todd Miller led the team with a tremendous 12-3 record.

With the loss of only one Senior and the return of five lettermen, U High should find a better season next year.

Varsity Golf Team Takes Corn Belt

PRECISE PUTTING IS Rick Jackson's trademark.

The young but experienced U High Golf team copped the C.B.C. title, placed second in the District, and had a fine showing at the Quincy tournament.

The linksmen had a 8-8-1 record. The undefeated Junior Varsity team had a record of 10-0. The Varsity lost only two seniors, Steve Bishop, and Rusty Myers.

A big factor in the golf team's success was Junior Rick Jackson, who was consistent in his low scoring and had the second best score in the conference.

INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL GAMES PROVIDE after-school activities.

Intramural Sponsors Spring "Gym-Jam"

INTRAMURAL BADMINTON CHAMPS WERE Jill Sel-lards and Karen Smith.

Girl's intramurals sponsored the all-school gym-jam as their main event of the year. Two hundred students gathered in the two gyms and the lounge to participate in such activities as volleyball, basketball, badminton, table tennis, and dancing.

On three evenings a week, intramurals were offered to any girl who wished to use her skill for an extra class activity.

In the fall, field hockey and tennis were offered to sophomore, junior, and senior girls. Tennis could be played as either singles or doubles.

Other activities offered later in the year were basketball, volleyball, table tennis, fencing, gymnastics, bowling, golf, and baseball. All of the classes of girls were allowed to participate in these activities.

The boys physical education department offered basketball during the winter.

Miss Cekander was in charge of girl's intramurals, and Mr. Chiodo was responsible for boy's intramurals.

People

Dr. Harry D. Lovelass, Director

Dr. Robert G. Bone, President of ISU

Miss Ruth C. Huggins, Associate Director

Administration

President Bone served for his last year as top administrator of ISU and its laboratory schools during 1966-'67. His guidance and understanding of the youth of today has been felt in his relations with U High as well as ISU.

As director, Dr. Lovelass supervises the total operation at U High, coordinating U High functions with other departments on campus.

Associate Director, Miss Ruth C. Huggins, schedules classes with the aid of I.B.M. machines, new for U High this year. Discipline comes under Mr. Legg's jurisdiction.

New in 1966 was Guidance Director, John Buscher. Any counseling or college problems are directed to him. Mr. Gibbins the Special Education coordinator, plans to leave U High next year to work on his Doctors degree. In Mrs. Metzler's absence, Miss Schneider joined the U High staff as the assistant librarian.

These people and other staff members help to make U High a laboratory of experiments.

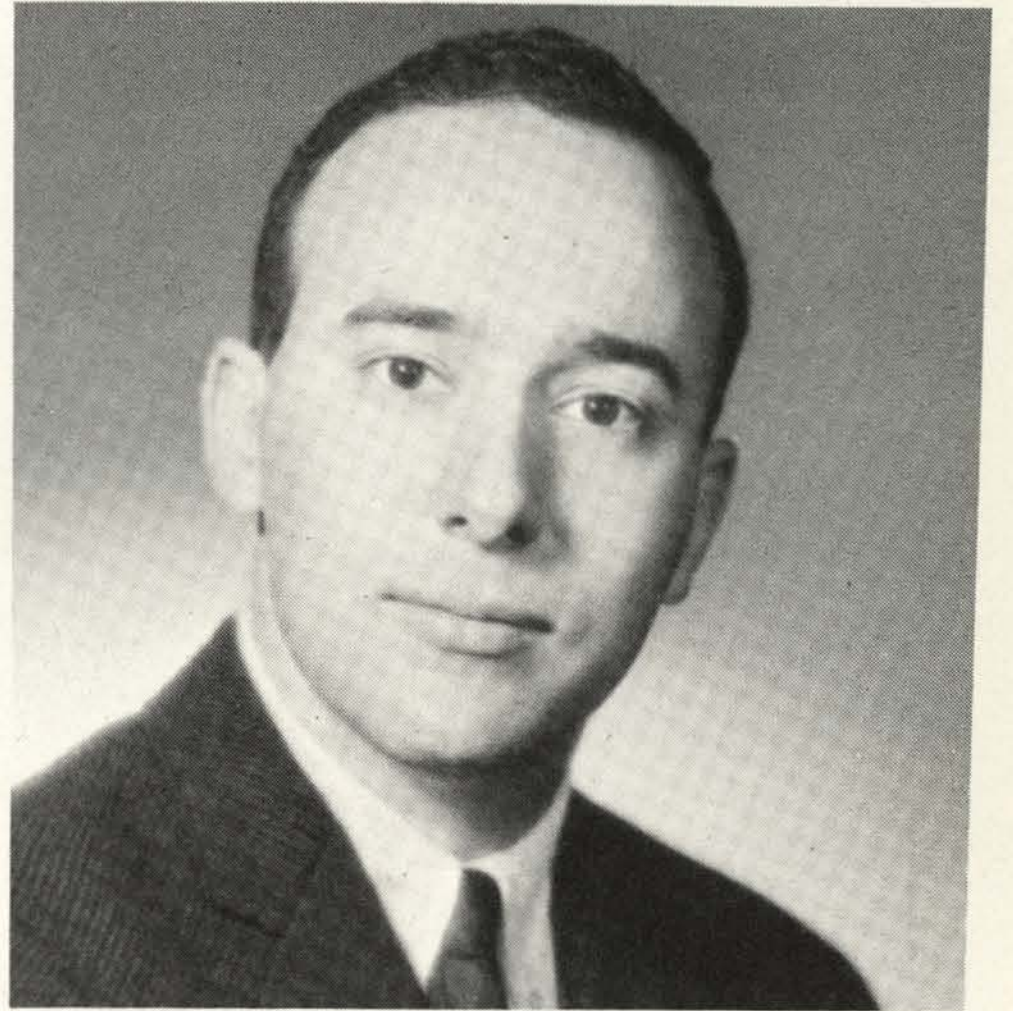

Lewis L. Legg, Assistant Director

Leads U High

Ellen Schneider, Assistant Librarian

Spencer Gibbins, Special Education Consultant

John B. Buscher, Guidance Director

Mrs. Hilda Efford, secretary to Director.

Several silent groups on the U High staff are essential to all of the activities within the building. Mrs. Efford, who is the executive secretary to Dr. Lovelass, keeps records, keys, and a calendar of important events. Miss Yagodich, the school nurse, is on hand in case of accidents or illness. Answering phones, typing, and sending out notes are just a few of the jobs undertaken by the office staff. To aid Mr. Buscher in the Guidance Office, Mrs. Brigham joined the U High staff at mid-year. The janitors work to keep the building clean for both the students and visitors. During the school day, they pick up after the students, and after school another group gives the building an overhaul. Vacation for students does not mean vacation for janitors, at this time the floors are waxed. Few of the students notice these jobs while they are being done, but the results are greatly appreciated.

Miss Georgette Yagodich, nurse.
